IN STILL LIFE.

Said the woolly dog upon my desk,
As he stared at me with reproachful gaze;
"Why do you write the things that vex
Editors, and shorten their days?"

"Isn't everything a sham,
Love and sentiment only trash?
Can't you be as cynical as I am
And let your fine theories go to smash?"

"I know I am only a flannel cur
Stuffed with excelsior; but you see,
My judgment was never known to err
And there's no flaw in my philosophy."
—(Chicago Record Herald.)

Mrs. Arthur Stillman who has been ill during the summer is now quite recovered.

Mr. Thomas F. Walsh has resigned his position in the local L. & N. Freight house and will remain in Denver, Colo., where he has accepted a good position.

Hon. John E. Stillman, collector of the port, is expected home tomorrow.

Mrs. R. J. Bowman and children left yesterday for Louisville where they will remain a few days and then return to Whistler, Ala., to spend several weeks there.

The many friends and relatives of Mrs. Charles Price will learn with regret that, at last accounts Mr. Price was critically ill at their home in Salisbury, N. C.

Mr. Will Favorite's friends were cheered yesterday by a message stating that he had rested easily Sunday night and had sat up some.

Mrs. J. E. D'Alemberte has gone to spend ten days in Nashville en route to Hot Springs, Ark., to visit her mother who resides there.

Mrs. A. G. Nolan and two children have returned from the Little Bayou where they have been visiting her mother Mrs. Holst.

The many friends of Miss Macley, who is in Weaverville, N. C., will regret to learn that she is suffering from a sprained ankle which will prevent her return for several weeks and will delay the opening of her kindergarten.

MR. E. L. WHITE BURIED AT QUINCY.

Many West Florida readers will learn with regret of the death of Mr. E. L. White of Miami. Mr. White was a native of Quincy, son of Judge White of that place. He had been in Asheville, N. C., for several weeks for the benefit of his health which had been frail for years, and died there Tuesday morning. His body was taken to his old Quincy home and interred in the family cemetery Friday.

Mr. White was a genial, cheery and interesting gentleman, possessed of an inexhaustible fund of historic facts and humorous as well as pathetic incidents of the war and reconstruction days in both of which his father was an active participant.

Mr. White was an active citizen of Miami honored for his frank honesty in all things and was once described by a member of his opposition party as "A politician all right, but he lacks policy." Referring to Mr. White the Miami Metropolis says:

"Let us stop to honor his memory and from his life endeavor to learn the lessons to so live that when our summons comes to follow him to the bourne from whence no traveler returns, that, like him, we may go hence with the assurance that life has not been all in vain and that there may be left to those behind the legacy of a good name, and the pleasing recollections of one who did at all times and under all circumstances that which seemed to him righteous and just."

HIS MIND WAS WILLING BUT HIS WIND WAS WEAK.

Mayor Story of Atlantic City was besieged by constituents to stop those fishermen who dredge illegally near the shore for fish that is used only as fertilizer, says the Buffalo Enquirer. While condemning the practice the mayor, in pointing out the difficulty of catching and punishing those fishermen, said:

"On account of the sinful waste of good fish that they cause, we would be only too glad to prosecute them, but the means to detect and identify them are not at hand. We have the will, but not the power to punish. We are like the trumpeter in an Atlantic City band.

"The man, a native of Germany, was practicing one night a trumpet obligato, but he did not play anything like loud enough.

"Louder, louder."

"And the trumpeter redoubled his efforts.

"Louder, louder, louder."

"The trumpeter banged down his trumpet and glared at the leader with eyes that started from their sockets.

"It's all very well," he sputtered, "to say, 'Louder, louder,' but you are dead!"

The Journal's Daily Fashion Feature

ONE-PIECE FROCK FOR THE LITTLE MAID.

Wash frocks of heavy linen are in high esteem for the nursery folks the year around, the changes necessary for warmth when the weather becomes cold being effected in the underwear. A broad box-pleat passes down the center front and center back, the shoulder seams in both portions being occupied with deep outward turning side pleats, the outer one being arranged to spread over the armhole and cover the sleeve top a trifle. A broad flare to the side seam shapes the skirt; and the pleats are heavily pressed throughout, so that they hold their shape. The sleeve is a shirt shape, with a little button-over band at the wrist, and there is a narrow-shaped collar band at the throat. A fitted belt of the linen is loosely passed around the hips and drawn through a linen-covered buckle in front.

CALAMITY LIAR WAS FINED $25.00

MAN WHO SAID HE WAS FROM PENSACOLA GETS IT HOT IN JACKSONVILLE.

The Jacksonville Metropolis of Saturday says: Quite a commotion was created in the restaurant of A. M. Beck, corner Bay and Washington streets, last evening, when John A. Ramsauer, a well known resident of this city, stated in the presence of those in the restaurant that he had just arrived from Pensacola, and was ill with fever. This remark caused the place to be deserted in short order, and the city health officer was informed of the matter at once.

The police station was communicated with at once, and Officer Harry Hall went to the restaurant and placed Ramsauer under arrest on the charge of disorderly conduct by circulating false reports regarding contagious diseases. The case was called for trial in the municipal court this morning.

Mrs. A. M. Beck said that Ramsauer came into the restaurant and seemed to be somewhat under the influence of liquor. While in the place he stated that he had just come from Pensacola and was ill with fever now. Dr. F. D. Miller, city health officer, and Chief Sanitary Inspector Brazier were also witnesses against the defendant and said that they had learned that Ramsauer had not been out of the city for several months. Ramsauer said that he had no recollection of ever making the statement charged against him. Judge Delanyinski impressed upon the prisoner the seriousness of such idle talk, and the harm that may result therefrom. Ramsauer was fined $25, which he promptly paid.

USEFUL DISCOVERIES.

Are Not Always Startling, Neither Do They Create the Most Talk.

It is not always the greatest, most startling discoveries of science that are most useful to the human race. Comparatively few people were directly interested in Herschel's finding of the new planet Uranus, but many thousands have been benefited by Prof. Unna's experiments, which proved beyond a question that Dandruff and Baldness are the results of the inroads of a parasitic germ which invades the roots of the hair.

The discovery of the true cause of baldness made Newbro's Herpicide possible. Herpicide effectually kills this germ. Destroy the cause you remove the effect.

IMMIGRATION IN FLORIDA

CAPT. JOHN M. STEVENS DISCUSSES RESOURCES AND POSSIBILITIES OF THE LAND OF FLOWERS.

Capt. John H. Stevens, one of the best posted men on irrigation in the State, and who has had a great deal of experience in this work, has offered through the Jacksonville Times Union the following suggestions to the people of Florida, and especially to those who are interested in bringing to the State people to take part in Florida's industrial development.

Editor Times-Union: Your suggestion of the 17th, in regard to suitable immigration, is timely and should be discussed.

While acting as agricultural and immigration agent of the Plant System of Railways, I outlined a plan for the population of Florida which I then thought, and still think, the only correct principle to be observed in this great work.

In Florida with its millions of acres of land, suitable for horticulture and agriculture, with its bountiful stores of artesian water which can be utilized for irrigation, there should be no reason for a lack of intelligent people who would come fully equipped with money, brawn, mentality and morals to develop our State, and soon make of it the richest section of our Union.

Cheap Irrigation Needed.

With cheap irrigation our State could be made to supply the demands of the entire country for winter vegetables, strawberries, oranges, grapefruit and Florida sirup. The cheap irrigation we have, as there are thousands of acres where artesian wells can be made to flow and, once established, there is no further expense from this source, and with proper energy we can easily supply the needs of a million of people with what is necessary for a living of comfort and luxury during the winter and early spring months.

How to Proceed. The secure suitable people it is only necessary to secure control of a few thousand acres of suitable land (which constitutes less than 25 per cent of our area) and then make contracts with influential men of the race desired, and have the people brought here ready to proceed with the development.

These lands should be sold to immigrants on long time, if necessary, with a small cash payment to evidence good intention, and with suitable rewards to stimulate energy and thrift. The outlay on the part of the state would be a bagatelle compared with each family thus located the task would become easier and the expense less.

In my official capacity I corresponded with and had two conferences with a man in Patterson, N. J., who proposed to bring actual settlers from Holland and elsewhere, with money enough to start life, and who thoroughly understood market gardening, if homes could be secured on easy payments, he, the agent, to receive ten dollars for each such family actually located. This man said he had placed over six hundred families in the United States, under contract with various railway lines.

There is an organization in Amsterdam which proposes to furnish money to worthy persons seeking homes abroad, if proper security can be obtained for such advances, and by co-operation with such organization our immigrants would come not only well equipped for the battle of life, but we could thus have assurances of their moral status, as only good people could secure the indorsement and assistance of such organization.

The Italians.

I also had a conference with an Italian priest seeking like opportunities for his people from the north of Italy, who are said to be the finest gardeners in the world, but who must have some help in the matter of securing a home.

If the legislature would appropriate $25,000 to be expended for suitable land, and to make contracts with honest and capable agents, five or six hundred families should be secured the first season, and in less than ten years the state would not only be reimbursed, but its taxable values would be so enhanced as to show a large margin on the credit side.

There are many matters of detail connected with this proposition, which can and must be arranged as they confront the promoters of this scheme, but there is no difficulty which cannot be easily brushed aside.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Hightower, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Cleburne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some soured meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that, as he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was cured in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one small bottle cured the three of us." For sale by all druggists.
